ADSA 2018 Annual Meeting Registration Completed on: March 22, 2018

Dear Miss Ce Wang, PhD,

We are pleased to inform you that your abstract, 73489--"Effects of polymerized whey protein on goaty flavor and texture properties of goat milk yogurt in comparison with β -cyclodextrin" has been accepted for presentation at the 2018 ADSA Annual Meeting.

We wish to extend an invitation to you to travel to Knoxville, Tennessee in order to attend the 2018 ADSA Annual Meeting. The conference is scheduled to be held in Knoxville, Tennessee on June 24-27, 2018.

We hope that you will take the opportunity to attend and hear scientific presentations covering a wide variety of topics dealing with dairy science and animal agriculture. A great scientific program is planned, in addition to social events for you to meet with fellow scientists who share our common interests.

Regrettably, funding for individual travel and other expenses connected with the ADSA Annual Meeting is the registrant's responsibility. You may retrieve registration, program, and housing materials from the meeting website: <https://www.adsa.org/2018/>.

Again, we are very pleased that you will consider traveling to the 2018 ADSA Annual Meeting. We look forward to seeing you in Knoxville!

Sincerely,
