ADSA 2017 Annual Meeting Registration Completed on: May 2, 2017

Dear Mr. Hao Wang,

We are pleased to inform you that your abstract, 69173--"Chemical, physiochemical and microstructural properties, and probiotic survivability of goat milk kefir using polymerized whey protein as co-thickening agent." has been accepted for presentation at the 2017 ADSA Annual Meeting.

We wish to extend an invitation to you to travel to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in order to attend the 2017 ADSA Annual Meeting. The conference is scheduled to be held in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania on June 25-28, 2017.

We hope that you will take the opportunity to attend and hear scientific presentations covering a wide variety of topics dealing with dairy science and animal agriculture. A great scientific program is planned, in addition to social events for you to meet with fellow scientists who share our common interests.

Regrettably, funding for individual travel and other expenses connected with the ADSA Annual Meeting is the registrant's responsibility. You may retrieve registration, program, and housing materials from the meeting website: <https://www.adsa.org/2017/>.

Again, we are very pleased that you will consider traveling to the 2017 ADSA Annual Meeting. We look forward to seeing you in Pittsburgh!

Sincerely,

Peter Studney
ADSA Executive Director
